DESCRIPTION Sahara is a wall tile system made of waste material from the production of wine corks in Portugal. Its shape is as simple and spontaneous as a sand formation carved by the wind. Sahara's shape is the perfect starting point for creating a multitude of patterns.

Installation: Sahara panels are vertically or horizontally mounted on hidden cleats previously secured to the wall. Rotating tiles will create beautiful formations in the spirit of drifting desert sand. Due to the nature of cork it is recommended to not move tiles after installation. Tiles need to be permanently positioned.

Care: Cork surfaces are kept clean and in good condition by vacuuming them regularly with a soft brush nozzle.

Stain Removal: Carefully wipe up any stains using a damp cloth. Then dry the surface.

Disinfection of Sahara: The Sahara tile is made completely from cork and is now approved to be cleaned using disinfectants, enabling it to be used in rooms where fabric covered acoustic tiles are not suitable.
